Five Candidates To Run For School Committee

THREE THOUSAND DOLLAR DAMAGE BY FIRE

The alarm sounded from box 12 at 7.10 Thursday morning was for a brisk fire at the house at 48-50 Magnolia street, which it is thought started in the upper apartment, as all the fire was in that apartment and the greatest amount of damage done there. The house is owned by Michael Siker, who occupies the lower suite and the upper apartment was occupied by Lawrence Ellis. The estimated damage to contents and house is $3000. The water damage to the lower suite is slight as the protective rubber sheets used by the department was spread over the furniture and thus saved a great deal. The all-out signal sounded about 8:40. The two alarms which sounded were accounted for in the following manner: A telephone call comes in to the Central Station and the alarm is sounded from the nearest box to the fire from this point, meanwhile someone rings the box of this number and when the rounds are completed on the first signal then the alarm is registered from the box itself. When the two alarms are sounded for a fire three blows precede the ringing of the rounds used for the second alarm signal. The alarm signals arranged in the station and at each box are non-interfering, so that there is no confusing of alarms.

So far the Advocate has heard the names of five candidates for School Committee. Last week only four were mentioned in a brief announcement. The fifth, however, Eugene F. Freeman, of 18 Linwood street, was named the week previous. Mr. Freeman, like Prof. Alexander H. Rice, of 99 Bartlett avenue, is at present a member of the School Committee. His term of office, like that of Prof. Rice, expires in March, 1927, and both will run on the ballot to succeed themselves.

As we have stated before, Mrs. Joseph W. Downs of 73 Tanager street, who was appointed by the school committee last September to fill out the unexpired term of Bradford E. Swift until the March election, will run for the remainder of Mr. Swift's term, which is to March, 1928.

The two candidates whose names will appear for the first time on the official ballot for school committee, are William M. Hatch, of 12 Water street, who has been a resident of Arlington for 19 years, and with experience along educational lines, and Angus Joseph Chisholm of 48 Davis avenue, a graduate of our schools and a young man in his early thirties, at present sub-master in the Boston English High school.

RECEPTION TO DR. GILL TAKES PLACE THIS EVENING

A reception to Dr. Frederic Gill occurs this (Friday) evening in the First Parish Unitarian church in recognition of his thirty-five years as minister over this parish. There will be vocal and instrumental music, a few brief addresses and other exercises. Invitations have been sent to those outside the parish who have in one way or another come in contact with Dr. Gill, during his residence in the town.

NEW BLOCK OF STORES FOR ARLINGTON CENTER

A block of six stores are soon to replace the old building on Mass. avenue opposite Medford street, which is to be razed. The property belongs to Herschel M. Bon of 27 School street, Boston, who has been granted the permit to erect these stores at a cost of $20,000. It will have a granite front of Gothic architecture and will be ready for occupancy June 1st.

The building will run from the driveway next to the Arlington Automobile Company to where was formerly the Swan block, now replaced by a group of stores.

The lunch cart that has occupied a place on land now owned by Bon, has been vacated and we understand the present owner, John Dale, wanted to reopen on the De Roach property at the corner of Winter street and Mass. avenue, but was unable to get a lease. Miss Anna B. Callahan has moved her real estate office temporarily to 466 Mass. avenue, but has leased one of the new stores in the proposed block.

ICE HOCKEY TEAM OUT OF LUCK

The High School ice hockey team is certainly playing in hard luck this season, owing to ice conditions. Tuesday the boys were scheduled to play in Melrose, but this game was called off on account of the ice. Then on Wednesday the boys went to Pomfret, Conn., for a game, but on arriving there found that the ice was not in good condition. A game was started, but after one period was played, when Arlington had scored one goal, the game was stopped.

WHERE IS THE LIGHT?

Where Warren street and Broadway meet there is a grass plot of considerable size. In it there was a large electric light that illuminated the square. It has been removed. This leaves the plot in darkness and in consequence many motorists have run onto the grass, with the result that wheels have been broken and tires burst, because the light has been removed some distance away from Broadway, it has created a danger that should be eliminated before someone is seriously injured. Patrolmen, it has been said, have seen accidents at this point.

PERMITS FOR MONTH AMOUNT TO $194,375

The building permits summary for the week ending January 29th were as follows:—two one-family dwelling houses, for the amount of $11,000; two two-family dwellings, amounting to $16,000; one garage for $300, and one addition and alteration for $900, the total number being six permits, amounting to $28,200. On Monday, the last day of the month, three permits were issued for one-family houses, totaling $10,500, and one for a block of stores located at 454 to 460 Mass. avenue, owned by Herschel Bon, to cost $20,000. The total permits for the month were twenty-eight and amounted to $194,375.

ARLINGTON DEPARTMENT WENT TO WOBURN FIRE

On Wednesday morning at 7.10, the ten blows, an out-of-town signal, used only on calls for help from towns or cities not using reciprocal calls, was sounded, and the Engine 1 from the Central Station responded manned by seven firemen and Captain Corbett. The call was from Woburn, to aid in controlling the conflagration in that city. The local men did not play near the big fire, but took care of the sparks that endangered many areas around. They put a fire out in the Robertson house and also extinguished a lively blaze on the roof of a Peterson house. At about 9.30 they went down to the Central Station in Woburn and filled in, ready to take care of any alarms that might come in there. They reported back to the Central Station at 1.58.

The station house was not short-handed by the vacancies left by the men who responded to the Woburn call, for at the sound of the signal, the men who were having the day off, as per schedule, reported for duty and remained until the return of the engine.

TO HOLD OPEN HOUSE

The Arlington Five Cents Savings Bank opens its new bank building, 1300 Mass. avenue, near Park Avenue, on Saturday, Feb. 5th, from 2 p. m. until 9 p. m., when the public is invited to visit the same. Mr. Joseph F. Fredriksen will be office manager of the Arlington Heights office. His assistant is Miss Margaret Danskin.

Mother of Eleven Remarkable Children Who Has Applied Her Scientific Management To Her Home With Success.

The Sunday Forum is likely to draw a large number, especially women, who will be interested in hearing how Lillian M. Gilbreth, the Scientific Management Expert, has been able to apply her scientific knowledge to the bringing up successfully a large family of eleven children. Her subject will be, "Can a wife and mother have a career without sacrificing children, husband and home?" or "Industry and the new Psychology. The effect of Scientific management on the worker."

Born and educated in the schools and University of California, she married Frank B. Gilbreth in 1904. In conjunction with him she did construction work and studied scientific management. This necessitated much research work aiming to discover and inventing devices for finding the best way to work. In 1915 she took a Ph.D. at Brown University in order to get the latest theory and practice in learning and teaching, which are essential to good teaching. By the sudden death of her husband in 1924, Mrs. Gilbreth assumed his work, accepting a commission given to him and discharging her responsibility with such cleverness as to win praise and commendation. Her chief interest is in proving that scientific management is beneficial to all who apply it faithfully and that it makes possible not only increased production, but satisfied producers. Her aim is to try and demonstrate that it is possible to direct a happy home and at the same time take some part in the world's work.

Rev. Harold L. Stratton, minister of the Park Avenue Congregational church, will be chairman of the Forum and the ushers will be members of the Community Club.

AHERN CLEARS POSITION CONCERNING PUBLIC WORKS

Feb. 3, 1927.

Editor of the Arlington Advocate, Dear Sir:

It has come to my attention that a great many false statements are being made concerning the Board of Public Works, and my position as Superintendent of Public Works. In order that the public might know the truth about these matters, I would be deeply grateful if you will publish in your valuable paper the following facts:

The Board of Public Works, in order to economically and efficiently do the work of their Department, have made a reorganization, giving me the services of an Assistant to care for the details of the work, and thus enabling me to devote my time to the planning of the work, this being necessary for me due to the tremendous increase in the growth and volume of the work that the Board is called upon to do.

I desire to further state that I have not sought and do not intend to seek a position in any other city or town as my present position is most satisfactory to me, and my relations with the Board are very harmonious.

I also desire to thank the Board of Public Works for the splendid assistance they have given me.

Very truly yours,

GEORGE E. AHERN,
Supt. of Public Works.

MR. AND MRS. JOSEPH ZEMAN OBSERVE 56th ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Zeman, residents of Arlington Heights for 35 years, Monday observed their 56th wedding anniversary in their home, 34 Williams street, Arlington Heights. In the evening there was a family gathering, featured with an anniversary supper, and the presentation by relatives of the aged couple of a purse of gold, the presentation speech being made by their eldest daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Leahy of Arlington Heights. In the family group are three daughters, two sons and 20 grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Zeman were married in Boston, on Jan. 31, 1871. They are enjoying fine health. While both are natives of Bohemia, they have lived in this country for about 60 years. The first 20 years of their married life they lived in South Boston, but since then have made their home in Arlington Heights. Mrs. Zeman, before her marriage, was Miss Josephine Opal.

There have been many very interesting meetings of the Arlington Board of Trade, but the meeting on last Tuesday evening in the club house of the Middlesex Sportsman's Association surpassed any held for some time. Before the speaker was announced, who was Parker Webb, a fellow townsman, member of the Board of Trade and Middlesex Sportsman's Association and a well known realtor, considerable import and business was transacted. President Evans in the chair.

Charles D. Higgins made the report for the transportation committee, taking up first the matter of improved service on the Boston Elevated. Mr. Higgins explained that a new service had been installed from Arlington Center to Harvard square during the rush hours, the running time being every two minutes from the center to Harvard square. The matter of the Appleton street stop has been taken up with the Elevated officials and it looks as if the stop would be put back. Making stops in front of the Senior High school between 7.45 and 8.30 a. m. and 1.00 and 1.45 p. m., has also been taken up and submitted to the officials of the road. Regarding changing the pole stops on Massachusetts avenue, there was considerable criticism and debate. It was finally voted that the transportation committee take up the matter of restoring the stops to their former locations. N. J. Hardy offered the suggestion that people trade more in Arlington, thus avoiding the nec-

MISS GRACE MORRISON POOLE DISCUSSES CURRENT EVENTS

Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole gave a most interesting current events talk Wednesday afternoon in the auditorium of the Senior High school, under the direction of the civics-education committee of the Arlington Woman's Club, Mrs. Malcolm B. Davis, chairman.

In part Mrs. Poole spoke of the threatening conditions in Central America, giving viewpoints from both sides—that of President Diaz and President Sacara. She felt, however, that there is no danger that the United States will be drawn into a war in Central America on account of the somewhat strained relations at present existing with Mexico and Nicaragua. Mrs. Poole did feel that a real menace lay in the trouble in China. That if we should find ourselves drawn into a conflict with them, it should be no surprise. Also if we have to meet the Chinese in this manner it will mean combating with Russia, which is indeed a vital question. The situation of Senator Smith and Gould

Fifty Years Ago This Week

Last Monday evening P. M. A. E. Scott, installed the officers at the Simon W. Robinson Lodge, F. A. M. in Lexington.

The net proceeds of the Universal Fair, held last week in Town Hall, were a trifle larger than last year, footing up the nice little sum of $515.81.

Fears that a considerable flood would result when the great body of snow on the ground went off, are being dispelled by the warm and sunny days of the past week, which have carried off easily, though rapidly, a considerable portion of it, and fully opening the usual water courses and gutters. Although winter is by no means over, and we are likely to have considerably more snow, we can be thankful that no more damage has resulted by the melting in this instance.

The premium of gold continues to drop, and on Wednesday last was quoted at 104 7-8.

A very attractive program was presented at the rooms of the Arlington Reform Club, last Tuesday evening, before an audience which packed the room, in every part giving a view of the stage. The following is the program presented:—"Marching Through Georgia," solo, by S. B. Wood, chorus by the club; solo, Miss Redman; piano solo, Miss Nellie Hardy; reading, A. Dwight Field; solo, "Kathleen Mavourneen," Mrs. Swan; piano duet, Miss Nellie and Miss May Hardy; farce, "A Drop too Much." This last was very amusing and was well represented, the characters being sustained by Miss Lizzie Hardy, Mrs. E. O. Grover and Messrs. Rugg, Richardson, Wood and Swan.

The water will be shut off at the Reservoir Saturday, Feb. 3, forenoon, and will remain cut off until the broken hydrant is repaired. The Unitarian bell will be struck one hour before the water is shut off, as a warning to water takers.

At the last meeting of the Hiram Lodge, F. A. M., of Arlington, Mr. John Hill was presented with a valuable past master's jewel. The presentation speech was made by Wm. E. Parmenter, Esq.

Twenty-five Years Ago This Week

The Girls' Friendly Society of St. John's parish met at the home of the secretary, Miss Elizabeth McCracken on Jason street, on Wednesday evening.

Ice cutting has been in operation on Spy Pond this week by the Cambridge Ice Company. The ice is variously stated as twelve and fourteen inches thick.

The Twenty-One Associates are to give a party in Associates Hall, Saturday evening, Feb. 8th. Everybody wants to go; they had such a good time at the first party.

Friday was visiting day for the teachers of the Russell school, the scholars thereby having a holiday. Crosby school had the day last week for the same purpose.

Mr. Henry Finley, of this town, took first and third prizes on Black Mavorka fowls at the recent Boston Poultry Show.

The whooping cough has broken out to some extent.

The Young Men's League of the Baptist Church will meet next Tuesday with Mr. W. S. Jardine on Forest street.

A petition is receiving signatures for an article in the Town Warrant in respect to buying land for a playground in connection with the Locke School.

Arlington High defeated Cambridge Latin in a fast game of hockey on Spy Pond, Thursday afternoon by a score of 2-0. The game was closely contested throughout, but the superior teamwork of the Arlington boys told in the end. The best play-

The Heights Dramatic Club give their first performance of the season in Town Hall, on Tuesday evening, Feb. 11th. "The Real Widow Brown" is the comedy to be presented and an evening full of enjoyment is promised by our talented young people.

Miss Edith Mann will give a piano recital at her teacher's rooms in the Huntington Chambers this (Saturday) afternoon, to which a number of her friends here will attend.

LEGION AND AUXILIARY HOLD GET-TOGETHER SOCIAL

Arlington Post, 39, American Legion, and its ladies' auxiliary are to be complimented on the get-together meeting held in G. A. R. Hall on Monday evening. A large attendance, fine dinner, excellent entertainment rounding out the evening with dancing, constituted the program. A roast dinner was served in the lower hall, under the direction of Mesdames Stella Campbell, Ruth Harwood, Amy Hall, Misses Helen Bennett, Dorothy Surrette, Messrs. Robert Wallace, Jerry Murphy and Ellsworth Randall.

After an informal social, the entertainment was presented in the main hall, which opened with a group of vocal numbers that were finely rendered by a quartet composed of Mrs. Florence Brown, alto; Mrs. Amy Hall, soprano; Arthur Clare, bass, and Marcus Sorensen, tenor. Main feature of the evening was the presentation of the one-act play, "The Show Actress," by an all-star cast of legion and auxiliary members, coached and directed by Mrs. Ruth Harwood, past president of the Auxiliary, and on whom were showered many compliments at the close of the play. Mrs. Harwood gave a resume of the play before the curtain opened, which added an interest to the same. Those taking parts were Mrs. Amy Hall, Mrs. Florence Brown, Miss Helen P. Bennett, Miss Marion Surrette, Frank Harwood, Ellsworth Randall and Chester Whitman. The members of the cast are to be complimented on their splendid portrayal of the different characters. There was not a dull moment. This reflected credit on the actors and actresses, as well as on their coach.

Mr. David A. Scannell, Jr., a local young man, gave much pleasure by the singing of several solo numbers, which were beautifully rendered.

The music for the dancing which followed the play, was furnished by the Somerville Legion Orchestra. Frank Harwood was chairman of the committee and Chester Whitman, the treasurer.

JUNIOR WEST FLASHES

On Thursday, January 27, 1927, Miss Dorothy E. Connor, teacher of mathematics in our school, attended the second annual conference in arithmetic, which was held at Boston University. Among the speakers at the conference were Professors Davis and Wilson and Miss Connor. We did not know that we had a public speaker in our faculty. Miss Helen E. Hartford, teacher of seventh grade mathematics, also attended the conference.

During our assembly period last Friday, the seventh grade held a Declamation Contest. Those taking part in the assembly program were: Rita Keefe, Clarice Gott, Martha Magnuson, Helen Greeley, Mary Atkins, Thomas Lord, Virginia Carr, William Cronin, Eleanor McManus. The first place was won by William Cronin; second place, Mary Atkins; third place, Clarice Gott, and honorable mention, Martha Magnuson.

DR. GILL STRESSES THE HUMAN SIDE OF LIFE

Interesting Services Mark Thirty-fifth Anniversary of Minister's Ordination.

The auditorium of the First Parish Unitarian church was well filled on last Sunday morning, the occasion being the thirty-fifth anniversary of the ordination of Dr. Frederic Gill as minister of this church, and who severs his connection with the same as its minister, the first of March. It was a splendid testimonial to Dr. Gill and the service showed that not a little thought had been bestowed upon the arranging for the same, in the appropriate scripture readings, the hymns selected, together with the prayer offered by the minister, also the anthems rendered by the regular church quartette.

Before giving his sermon, Dr. Gill said that he must thank the people as best he could for the most generous gift bestowed upon him, which had been left at his home the Wednesday previous—$10,000. This substantial regard of his pastorate would not only bring to him a peace of mind for his material comfort as the days go by, but be a happy reminder of the generosity of those who made the gift possible. Dr. Gill drew attention to the flowers that adorned the front of the church.

They were given by the Hodgdon family in memory of the late Dr. Richard Hodgdon, who passed away thirty-four years ago on that date, and of Frank Wellington Hodgdon, his son, deceased just four years ago the 26th of January. Both had served as treasurer of the church.

The Kindergarten children, who have for some years attended the opening exercises of the morning service, were given a word of greeting by Dr. Gill, who spoke of how much pleasure he had derived from greeting these little ones, many of whose parents he had married. He felt that it had been a privilege to be a good friend of the little children.

Dr. Gill took for the subject of his sermon, "The greatest discovery I have made in the thirty-five years in Arlington." Here follows a brief excerpt of the same:

"While our army of occupation was in the Rhine country, one of our boys was sitting in a park with a German girl, when suddenly, around a bend in the roadway, appeared a limousine in which was seated General Pershing. The young soldier jumped to his feet, saluted, and stood at attention, with a vision of a court-martial in his mind. 'You know that you are violating the regulations,' said the general: 'Yes, Sir,' the soldier replied. 'But it is so lonely.' 'Well,' said Pershing, 'don't let the sergeants see you; they will not be as easy with you as I am,' and he told the chauffeur to drive on. What a fine humanity was behind that!"

"The greatest discovery I have made in thirty-five years here in Arlington is that every person is first of all a human being, always to be treated as such. He is not primarily a mechanic or a musician, a business man or a professional man, rich or poor, wise or foolish, clergyman or layman, not even Christian or 'heathen,' but beyond and above all these distinctions and differences, he is just human, a man. To remember this, and to try to act accordingly, is the most important thing for us to do as we pass through life. 'One can't go anywhere around here without running into a blame boy,' growled a United States Senator, as, rushing through a swinging door he collided with a page. 'I am no more a blame boy, than you are a blame man,' was the immediate and proper reply.

"With all the follies and the faults of our common humanity, it is none the less the best thing we know. How much that is admirable and praiseworthy it continually reveals to us! Consider the numbers of big boys and girls who spend winter evenings, after a day's work, in schools and col-

ARLINGTON LADIES PROMINENT IN CHARITY BALL

Mrs. Charles A. Bray of 75 Hillside avenue was on the reception committee of the Canadian Club Charity ball held Wednesday evening at the Copley Plaza. An exhibition tango and "Little Spanish Town Waltz," in costume was given by Miss Dorothy Hanna, also of Arlington, and Mr. Otto F. C. Heinemann.

The Charity ball is the major social affair of the year of the Canadian Club, and the entire proceeds are devoted to assisting those of Canadian birth in and around Boston who may be in need. During the past year the club has been doing everything possible within its means to assist Canadian veterans in local hospitals as well as the families of those who have suffered misfortune. The distinguished patrons of the ball this year included Governor and Mrs. Alvan T. Fuller, the British Ambassador and Lady Howard, Mayor and Mrs. Malcolm E. Nichols and the Governor General of Canada, Viscount Wellington and Viscountess Wellington.

ARLINGTON LOCALS

On January 24th, a son, Richard Bowman, was born to Mr. and Mrs. James A. Snyder of 9 Academy street.

William C. Oakes of 1 Lakeview has entered the Massachusetts General Hospital to undergo treatment for a spinal injury sustained around Christmas.

Marjorie Dart of 105 Warren street and William W. Harris of 12 Russell terrace were married at 105 Warren street on January 22nd. Rev. H. H. Crane of Malden, Mass., performed the ceremony.

At a meeting of the Democratic State Committee held in Tremont Temple, Boston, on Saturday, Jan. 29, Miss Anna B. Callahan, of 14 Webster street, was elected to membership to represent the Sixth Middlesex Senatorial District, which includes Arlington, Winchester, Medford and Woburn.

Charles Miller, Waldo Powell, Kenneth Harvey, Stanley Miller, Roland Gosbee, of the First Baptist church, Arlington, were among the boys of the DeMolay band of Boston, which played last Sunday morning at the "Every Man's" Bible Class, (which has a membership of over 200) at the Baptist church of Brookline, of which Dr. Samuel Lindsay is pastor.

Albany Peroir, aged 35 years, of 283 Harbor street, East Boston, was struck by an automobile operated by Harold R. Green of 49 Lincoln street, Lexington, on last Friday, while on Mass. avenue, about in front of Dr. Pratt's office. The injured man was taken into Dr. Pratt's office and after receiving treatment was taken to his home.

Leges. Behind much of the education acquired, and degrees received by such, are months or years of patient endeavor, surrender of recreation, sleep-curtailed, steadfast devotion to ideals. A man engaged in most menial work in a public building, redeems the time from dreariness by whistling, and whistling correctly, selections from great orchestral music!

We shall not make much real, permanent progress in dealing with the puzzling conditions of life today, unless we constantly remind ourselves that every person is a human being, with certain characteristic needs. A great university finds that many of its students are suffering from subtle digestive diseases because they continually eat at all kinds of counters. Now no one objects to taking a hasty meal or going without a meal occasionally, when there is good reason to do so. But that won't do ordinarily. For the mere taking of food is only a part of the matter; it must be humanized and socialized, controlled and refined by intercourse with others, or it will be on the declivity to brutishness.

It has also become only too evident, that in our colleges there is much dehumanized education: Instructors and courses from which almost every bit of humanity has been removed, so that however accurate and thorough the work may be, it threatens damage to the finer, deeper humanities, unless it is carefully put in its proper place as a subordinate discipline.

The emphasis upon our common humanity will correct the petty conceits and snobberies that frequently characterize religion. The notion that a group or class are favorites of God leads to a false feeling of superiority to others and contempt for them. It may be held by the 'enlightened' and the 'advanced'; by the 'elect' or the 'select'; or by 'God's people.' All such self-lauding in religion is evil. Let us shun it, as we would a plague, for it is a spiritual plague.

It is in this common humanity, at its best, that we find the great revelation of God. When we say 'Our Father' we express our faith that there is in the Eternal a mighty humanity, a heart of goodness and love; and that He is supremely manifested in all in our human nature that makes for a better humanity and a nobler life, we find the presence and the power of the Living God.

So through these thirty-five years, religion has come more and more to mean to me that the minister identifies himself with his fellow human beings, and especially with the deeper, inner things of their hearts, going within and beyond their comparatively superficial differences of position, class, or group, and finding God working there, even as he also believes in the humanity that is in God. To meet thus with men and women, ever trying to remember that whatever else they may be or not be, they are human beings, is the great privilege of the minister today."

Abraham Lincoln

A week from tomorrow practically the whole nation will observe the birthday of the man who is undoubtedly the outstanding figure in all American History—Abraham Lincoln.

We call him the outstanding figure of our history, not only because he was by common consent the greatest man this country has ever produced, but because he was the most typical of the ideals for which America stands.

Lincoln was even more than that—he was not merely the greatest American, but the greatest human being living in modern times. And in that sense he belongs not solely to America, but to the whole world. The peoples of many other countries feel that he is theirs as well as ours.

A number of years ago Count Tolstoi, the famous Russian author, was talking to a group of Russian peasants. They were simple people, most of whom could neither read nor write, and few of whom had been beyond the confines of their own village. He was telling them stories, as we tell stories to children. "And now," he said, "I will tell you of any great man you wish to hear of. Who shall it be—Julius Caesar, Napoleon Bonaparte, Czar Peter the Great?"

"No," came the reply, "tell us about Abraham Lincoln, the great American."

Thousands of miles away, in "Darkest Russia," those poor, unlettered peasants had heard of and loved our Lincoln.

It was inevitable that this man's deep and great humanity should reach out to human beings all over the world, and make them all feel that they were of his kin.

There have been in the past five hundred years, greater statesmen, far greater military leaders, men of vastly wider knowledge, and of superior brilliancy—but none is to be compared with him.

His greatness lay largely in his simplicity, his straightforwardness, and not only his understanding, but his sympathetic understanding of plain, ordinary human beings: in short love of his kind.

There are two great forces in human nature—fear and love. Men who have sought to mould others, to bring about great changes in nations have usually done so by appealing to the former of these. They were said to "understand human nature." In other words, they knew the weaknesses of human beings and used that knowledge to play upon those weaknesses and accomplish what they wished—and sometimes the end they had in view was in itself good.

But Lincoln's appeal was to a constructive, rather than a destructive force in human nature, and therefore he produced an impression, and obtained a result seldom recorded.

Again and again the words "Freedom" and "Democracy" have been used by leaders as an incentive to rouse and stir to action great multitudes of common men, even when those leaders did not believe in either freedom or democracy. They did not believe in them because they did not believe in human nature. Perhaps they had studied and worked upon its weaker side so long that they could not.

Abraham Lincoln really believed in human nature, and therefore he believed in both freedom and democracy. He thought, in other words, that human beings could be trusted to rule themselves. He saw that they were weak, that they would make innumerable mistakes, but he was sure that in the end they would right themselves.

In this, even in America, the "land of the free and the home of the brave," he was in a sense a minority leader, or at least with the minority of leaders, and very largely on this account he was met with distrust and even hatred by many of the prominent men of the day. Probably there was never any public man in American history so abused and vilified as he was. His theories of democracy particularly aroused hatred in some breasts. He was denounced as an advocate of the then ridiculed "woman's rights." He was even called a "free love" defender.

But eventually the attacks, the insults, the vilifications have been swept away, and those who launched them forgotten. Lincoln's greatness has remained, and the ordinary person today would suppose that it had always been accepted as a fact.

In these days, when the American Republic is undergoing new trials new dangers, we need to know more about Lincoln, and to have stimulated in us a higher appreciation of the things for which he stood.

It is to be hoped that parents and educators will utilize the week preceding the anniversary of his birth to instill in the younger generation a love for his ideals, and incidentally to renew and enlarge their own understanding of those ideals.

THE SENIOR EDITOR IS GAINING

For the benefit of the many friends of Mr. Charles S. Parker, senior editor of this paper, who have been so solicitous regarding his recovery from the automobile accident of November 5th, when he was struck down and sustained an impacted fracture of the hip, will say that he is showing progress. He is now able to walk from one room to the other by the aid of a chair which he pushes in front of him. This locomotion is somewhat slower than his friends are wont to see him, but it indicates that he is gaining and means not to be daunted in his purpose of being out among his friends once again.

MID-WINTER MEETING STATE FEDERATION FEBRUARY 24

Governor Alvan T. Fuller, Lieut. Gov. Frank G. Allen, Hon. Thomas J. McGrath, mayor of Quincy and officials of the General and State Federation of Women's Clubs will be among the speakers at the mid-winter meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs to be held in the high school building at Quincy, Feb. 24, with morning and afternoon sessions.

The morning session will open at 10 o'clock with the singing of "America the Beautiful," the salute to the flag, and invocation. Mayor McGrath will then bring greetings of Quincy followed by Mrs. Henry Foxon, president of the Quincy Woman's Club, the hostess club for the meetings. Gov. Fuller will bring the greetings of the Commonwealth, after which Mrs. Arthur Devens Potter, President of the State Federation, will respond to the greetings. Routine business will then be in order, followed by a talk, "Glimpses of the General Federation January Board Meeting," presented by Mrs. Frederick Glazier Smith, Massachusetts Director in the General Federation. The morning session will close with the presentation of legislative measures by Mrs. John H. Kimball, State Chairman of the Department of Legislation.

Elaborate plans for the luncheon are now under way, reservations for this part of the program to be obtained from Mrs. Charles Homer, 76 President's Lane, Quincy, not later than Feb. 19.

A musical program will open the afternoon meeting at 1:45 p.m., followed by greetings from Mrs. J. Herbert Libby, director of the second district. Presentation of new clubs joining the Federation will be followed by a report on the "Cause and Cure of War" conference recently attended by Mrs. A. A. Packard, second vice-president of the State Federation. Mrs. Packard will be followed by Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, Recording Secretary of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, whose message is titled "Before and After Taking." After a period of community singing, the address of the afternoon will be given by Lieut. Gov. Allen on "Some of the Problems Confronting the Commonwealth at the Present Time." Mrs. Edwin L. Price, Chairman of the Resolutions Committee of the State Federation will report on any resolutions and final routine business will close the session.

NEW INSURANCE LAW PUTS A CHECK ON RECKLESS DRIVING

A study of the new compulsory automobile insurance law, after its first month of operation has revealed that it speeds along the annual registration of automobiles, that it puts a check on reckless and careless driving and careless motor vehicle operators and that it has had no effect on the sales of automobiles and will not reduce the number of motor vehicles registered in the commonwealth during 1927. These conclusions were made by officials of the Association of Mutual Liability Insurance Companies after a statistical analysis of the new law's first month of operation.

The current registration period has been the smoothest in recent years," the mutual insurance association said. "Evidently, compulsory insurance will provide two registration peaks every year instead of the one January peak, known heretofore. Apparently, many motorists have put up their cars for the winter and will not register them until April, at which time a second registration peak will occur. This will ease greatly the annual burden on the insurance companies and the registry offices."

Truck fleet operators and employers of chauffeurs already are giving more serious attention to the type of drivers they employ. The careless driver finds it difficult to find employment today. Owners are taking no chances of being refused insurance next year because their cars have been driven recklessly during 1927, it was pointed out. A survey among automobile dealers revealed that their business is at its usual seasonal level and has been in no wise affected by the new law.

FREE COURSE IN

HOME HYGIENE

Another class in Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick, open to the public, will be offered by the Boston Metropolitan Chapter of the American Red Cross at its Headquarters, 45 Newbury street, Boston, beginning Monday, February 7, at 7:30 p.m. These courses given by the Boston Metropolitan Chapter consist of 16 lessons of 1½ hours each and teach the essential points of sickroom care, the prevention of sickness and care of the baby; also the treatment of emergencies which might arise in the home, and offers ample practice in the demonstrations which are given by the instructor on these subjects. They are valuable not only to young wives and mothers, but especially to business women who wish to be prepared to meet small emergencies in the home without calling in a nurse.

The courses have as instructors graduate nurses and have proved of immense value to almost 700 people in the 45 classes conducted at the Chapter and its branches since September 1, 1926.

ARLINGTON BOARD OF TRADE HEAR MR. PARKER WEBB

essity of using the crowded cars. The flag committee reported about ready to start out for subscriptions for a flag pole to be erected on Monument Park. While the Mercantile Bureau reported progress in this work. Two articles will be inserted in the warrant for the annual March meeting. One to see if the town will appropriate $500 for band concerts and the other to see if the town will vote to take by eminent domain or otherwise, the land owned by the Metropolitan Ice Company on the shore of Spy Pond at the foot of Pond Lane. Both are fostered by the Board of Trade.

The speaker was then pleasantly introduced by President Evans.

Mr. Webb's talk was teaming with interesting facts regarding Arlington and the advantages of home ownership here. One of the most gratifying statements was that already more than 50% of the citizens of Arlington own their own homes, a record which is 10% better than the average of home ownership throughout the United States.

Through the courtesy of Ernest Freeman and George E. Ahearn, Mr. Webb had secured slides, which, as he threw them on the screen, gave, as the speaker said, a better idea than in any other way, of the growth, development and future possibilities in Arlington.

First was shown the square in Arlington Center somewhere about 1850, principally the First Parish church, and the Old Town Hall and an interesting picture of the Robbins' old family homestead. Mr. Webb, spoke of the Robbins family that gave to the town of Arlington the land where now is our beautiful Memorial library and Robbins Memorial Town Hall and park, built through their generosity. Mr. Webb gave the population of the town, number of homes, as well as the percentage of home owners, speaking especially of the growth in the last 25 years, then used slides loaned by the Arlington Planning Board taken from the book recently published, showing its seven precincts.

Our Banks

Speaking of our banks, Mr. Webb said:

"The banks of Arlington are well equipped to take care of the financing of homes. The Menotomy Trust Co. has total deposits of almost $4,000,000 and has already loaned over a million dollars on real estate in this town. The Arlington National Bank has now deposits of over a million dollars and has real estate loans aggregating over a quarter of a million. The resources of the Arlington Co-operative Bank in 1910 amounted to $400,000. These had increased in 1926 to $2,529,000, every dollar of which has been loaned to home owners in Arlington and in the history of this Bank they have never lost a penny on a loan. The Five Cents Savings Bank deposits have reached a total of $7,000,000, of which over $4,000,000 is invested in mortgages on Arlington real estate. Not one of these banks has ever lost a dollar on real estate loans in this community. The banks of Arlington are able and willing to finance the building and purchasing of homes in this town."

After other interesting data, the speaker showed slides of the street widths as they exist in Arlington today. Of the building line from Alewife Brook to Academy street, which is approximately 98' wide.

Mr. Webb feels sure that sooner or later street car tracks will be removed from Mass. avenue. Then there will be a superb business thoroughfare through Arlington to Lexington, having a minimum width of 85 feet, and a maximum width of 89 feet. He spoke of the restrictions of business properties as marked out in our present zoning system, and of the parks and playgrounds that must be extended if our town continues to grow. He suggested the construction of a boulevard around Spy Pond and the enlargement of Menotomy Rocks Park. Of the dredging and clearing of the waters of Spy Pond where, as the speaker said, will no doubt some day be a municipal bath house on its shores and a bathing beach. He complimented the Planning Board on its excellent plans for creating breathing spaces and proper parks.

Fire Department

What Mr. Webb had to say of the fire department of the town, we report in full:

"One of the most important activities is the maintenance and operation of a fire department. Arlington has created within the past year one of the finest fire houses in this country. It is not only efficient and practical, but reflects great credit on our community. It is, however, the men with our fire department to whom I would call your special attention. The Arlington Fire Department responded to 373 alarms this year and the total loss by fire during this period was approximately $54,000. The average fire loss per capita throughout the United States is $4 per capita, and in Arlington is less than $2 per capita, a most excellent record. However, we rather expect our firemen to put out fires. We know that they will do that well, but it is along the lines of fire prevention that our department has made its best record. As you will note on this slide, our firemen have made 17,000 inspections of public and mercantile properties. Almost 600 buildings have been inspected at least twice during the year. At the courteous suggestion of the firemen, rubbish has been removed from 800 cellars and the cellars have been cleaned up. Defective wiring has been made safe, metal ushbars have been installed and nearly 100 defective chimneys relined. The interesting part is that this work of inspection and improvement has been done by the firemen on their days off. This is a record to be proud of and I am sure the citizens of Arlington will join me in congratulating Chief Daniel B. Tierney and the men of the fire department on this excellent record."

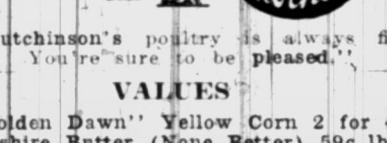

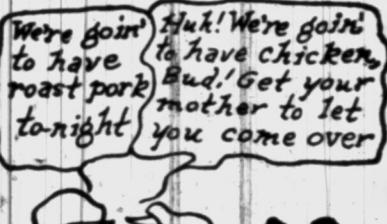

Grade Crossing Must Go

Mr. Webb's last two slides showed the improvement in transportation in Arlington.

He is of the opinion that the grade crossing at the railroad tracks should be eliminated. Whether the railroad tracks should be elevated or depressed is a matter of opinion. A tunnel under the square to the mind of Mr. Webb would be the most logical. He referred any interested to what had been done in Newton along this line.

Mr. Webb said in connection with the abolition of the grade crossing at the center, that other worth-while improvements along transportation lines are suggested at this point. The old Town Hall will soon be torn down and when this is done, Pleasant street will undoubtedly be extended to meet Mystic street at some intersecting point.

The street railroad from Arlington to Winchester on Mystic street will be discontinued and in its place will be the substituted transportation by buses. This condition will also occur sooner or later the full length of Mass. avenue. The present tracks of the B. & A. will undoubtedly be given over to electric trains connecting at the No. Cambridge line with an extension of the present Cambridge Tunnel. Arlington will come direct by tunnel and fast thru electric trains to Arlington Center and the Heights. Bus lines radiating from Arlington Center east, west and north will take passengers from their homes to this convenient junction point. When these improvements are completed, Arlington will have a transportation system second to none in the country. Improved transportation facilities, including bus lines, means not only that human life will be safer in Arlington, but also that the value of its real estate will constantly increase.

We battle with the winter's cold for the comfort of our customers. The science of heating is one of the most important branches of sanitary engineering. Let us see your plans for the new building.

The High school basketball team is now in a class by themselves in the school boy standing. They have cleaned up all the best of the school teams in this section, and on Saturday evening (tomorrow) they take on a team that will test their staying powers to the highest point. Manchester, N. H. team is coming here for a game. This announcement should be enough to fill the local High school gymnasium to its capacity. Manchester is a team similar to our own. They have gone through the season without a defeat. For years the school has turned out championship teams in this game. We all know what Arlington has done and what they can do so let's get together tomorrow evening and root for the home team and help them put the game over. This game will start at 8 o'clock.

A. H. S. Hang Up Tenth Victory

Ten victories in ten fast, clean and well played games marked the close of the week for Arlington High Basketball team. Last Friday night in the local gymnasium the ninth victory was chalked up, the team easily defeating the Mass. Nautical school team by a score of 42 to 16. Arlington might easily have piled up a much larger score, for there was a grand chance to get in some passing practice while playing and the third period was spent almost entirely in this work. From the opening the high school boys had the edge on the sailors, and they held the situation all the way through, in fact the spectators wondered after the boys got going if they meant to whitewash the training school team.

The Nautical school team made a rather poor showing against our fast team. The tally by periods tells the story pretty well. The first period ended Arlington 11 and Nautical 0; second period, Arlington 22 and Nautical 5; third period, Arlington 32 and Nautical 7, and final period, Arlington 42 and Nautical 16.

The game at times was fast, but clean playing marked both teams, the Nautical school boys while taking a bad beating, did not act "sore" or try to rough the game up at any time.

Capt. Joe Donahue was strong on the baskets. He shot eleven from the field, while Driscoll shot six from the field. Arlington was represented by Lowder and Frierly at rf. Donahue at lf; Driscoll, cf; Beasley and O'Keefe, alternating at rb, and McNamara at lb. Lowder shot two field goals and two from foul, and McNamara shot one field goal.

The game was attended by a large number of fans, who looked for a much better exhibition from the sailor boys, who showed lack of proper training in this game.

IN ADDITION TO THE REGULAR GAME

There was a fast session between the High school second team and the Junior High boys. This was filled with fast playing, and although the Junior High boys lost by a score of 16 to 9, they came along fast in the last half. Had they had the "breaks" of the second team, they would, no doubt, have made the score a closer one.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

In the contest for the Shield, Troops 8 of Arlington and 13 of Belmont by defeating Troops 9 and 6 of Arlington decisively won places in the finals. The scores were as follows:

Troop 8—Morse Signalling, 120; First Aid, 82; Drill, 100; Questionnaire, 51; Semaphore Signalling, 100. Total, 43.

Troop 9—First Aid, 65; Drill, 90; Questionnaire, 70; Knot Tying, 50. Total, 275.

Troop 13—Morse Signalling, 100; First Aid, 74; Drill, 80; Questionnaire, 88; Semaphore Signalling, 30. Total, 372.

Troop 6—Morse Signalling, 100; First Aid, 85; Drill, 30; Questionnaire, 68; Semaphore Signalling, 10; Knot Tying, 50. Total, 343.

Last Saturday Troop 7, Scouting, Charles J. Daly, hiked to Camp Oak and spent the day in the open. The same day Troop 1 of Lexington, Scoutmaster George Young, hiked to their Scout Cabin in Lexington and spent the day. Each troop accomplished a lot towards advancement and enjoyed every minute of the outing.

TWO-ACT COMEDY FINELY PRESENTED

Trinity Athletic club of Trinity Baptist church presented the two-act comedy, "The Turn in the Road," a college play, most successfully on Wednesday evening, February 2nd, before a capacity audience. The young men did exceptionally fine work in portraying their parts and the coaching of Mr. Arthur Blaser and assistant, Mr. James W. Rourke was shown to advantage. The new properties used added much to the characterization of the play, which centered around the initiation into the fraternity of a small college and the loss of a cow. The parts were taken as follows:—Ezra Brown, Frank Springer; Daniel Hawkins, Ross Adams; John Campbell Edwards, a Colton Freshman; Harold Davidson; Hobart Colfax, captain of the football team and editor of the Colton Monthly; Albert Buttuck; Theodore Morris, another freshman; Charles Buchanan; Hiram Skinner, a Woodstock farmer; Henry Davidson; Edward Campbell, a Colton Freshman; Stanton Wetherbee; Thomas Toodles, Kenneth Draper, and Montgomery Donaldson, Henry Jones.

The two acts were of the same scene, a dormitory room in Colton College, Woodstock Village, and the time was one week apart. The music during the evening and between the acts was furnished by Christian's orchestra of Woburn. The proceeds of the affair will be used in the treasury of the Club.

WHY CONGRESS SHOULD PASS THE ROGERS BILL

If a veteran of the great war cannot negotiate a loan at his bank on his adjusted compensation certificate, as the law which gave him that certificate authorizes, then his Government at Washington should be authorized by law to make the loan to him on the same terms out of its life (converted) insurance fund.

A bill giving the Government this authority has just been introduced in Congress by Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers of Massachusetts.

Justice to the holders of adjusted compensation certificates demands that Congress pass the Rogers bill without delay. So does the honor of the Government whose good faith is at stake.

Many veterans have suffered a bitter humiliation since January 3 last. That was the date on which, according to their adjusted compensation certificates, they would be able to borrow money from the bank by offering these certificates as collateral.

What has happened? Out of twenty-eight thousand banks in this country only four thousand two hundred, between January 3 and January 10, had signified their willingness to accept adjusted compensation certificates as security for loans to veterans in accord with the terms of the adjusted compensation act.

Probably many more banks will volunteer to accommodate the holders of these certificates after General Hines, the director of the Veterans' Bureau at Washington, has published the list of the banks that have accepted these certificates as collateral for loans to veterans.

And when Director Hines publishes the list of the banks cooperating with the Government in its administration of the adjusted compensation law, Congress and the Country will then know how many Government depositories are conspicuous by their absence from this honor call.

Meantime, and regardless of what a majority of the country's twenty-eight thousand banking institutions do, Congress should not let another week go by without passing the Rogers bill.

Let Congress enact the Rogers bill into law. Then no holder of an adjusted compensation certificate can truthfully say that Uncle Sam has not kept faith with the veterans of the Great War.

Congressman Rogers has had conferences concerning the bill and has had a hearing before the Committee on it. The bill will relieve the banks and apparently there is no objection to it on the part of the Government.

Let Congress enact the Rogers bill into law. Then no holder of an adjusted compensation certificate can truthfully say that Uncle Sam has not kept faith with the veterans of the Great War.

Let Congress enact the Rogers bill into law. Then no holder of an adjusted compensation certificate can truthfully say that Uncle Sam has not kept faith with the veterans of the Great War.

Let Congress enact the Rogers bill into law. Then no holder of an adjusted compensation certificate can truthfully say that Uncle Sam has not kept faith with the veterans of the Great War.

Let Congress enact the Rogers bill into law. Then no holder of an adjusted compensation certificate can truthfully say that Uncle Sam has not kept faith with the veterans of the Great War.

INTERESTING LETTER FROM A FORMER ARLINGTON RESIDENT

Redlands, Cal.

Dear Advocate:

The Advocate has been in our family for many years and my sister, Mrs. Harold Clarke (nee Ethel Butterfield) of Longmeadow, Mass., and myself enjoy reading it and the glimpse it gives us of our youthful days in Arlington. I am this winter, heading the junior and theory departments in the very splendid little University of Redlands, the important Baptist college for California, located with one of the most beautiful campuses in America in this beautiful city of orange groves. I am playing the organ in the Unitarian church and there have had the pleasure of meeting Mrs. George Ruhlen (nee Emma Turner) formerly of Jason street, and prominent in the Unitarian Church, graduate of Arlington High, 1903. Mrs. Ruhlen's husband is a Colonel in the U. S. Army and is located at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas; ill health has forced her to So. California, where her young son, George, Jr., attends a private military academy in Pasadena.

It will be a pleasure to meet any former Arlington friends who may be travelling in Southern California this winter. To take them to Smiley Heights and the Sun-set Drive will assure them a scenic tour unsurpassable in America and the panorama of the San Bernardino range will linger long in the memory.

Very cordially yours,
Frédéric Curtis Butterfield.

ICE HOUSES FILLED

It looks as if the ice companies beat the warm spell out. The last of the houses were filled on Thursday of last week. The crop this season is one of the best yet, for the ice is clean and with no snow. With the improved methods of cutting, the process of harvesting can be pushed along much faster than in the olden days when man power did all the work.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the subscriber has been duly appointed executrix of the will of Albert D. Cade, late of Arlington in the County of Middlesex, deceased testate, and has taken upon herself that trust by giving bond, as the law directs. All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are hereby required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to:

SHEA-FISCHER WEDDING

The marriage of Miss Edna M. Fischer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Fischer, of 84 Everett street, Arlington, to Mr. William J. Shea, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Shea, of 539 Franklin street, Cambridge, was of interest to a large number, especially in Cambridge, where the bride and groom have been active in the social and business life of that city. It was solemnized January 26th, in the rectory of St. Agnes' church by Rev. Matthew J. Flaherty, the ceremony, which was the single ring, being performed at 7 o'clock.

The bride was gowned in white beaded georgette, the bridal veil being prettily arranged with lilies of the valley and orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of valley lilies and sweet peas. Her attendant was a sister, Miss Caroline Fischer, who was gowned in changeable gold taffeta, with gold bandage, and carried sweet peas and tea roses. Mr. Frank Miller was the best man.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at Riverbank Court Hotel, Cambridge, where the couple received some one hundred guests. Where the receiving line stood, there was a pleasing grouping of palms, while in the dining room roses were used in decorating. A six-piece orchestra played throughout the reception, when the couple were assisted in receiving by their parents. Mrs. Fischer, and Mrs. Shea were in hand-some toilettes and carried bouquets of pink and yellow tea roses.

The couple have been having a wedding trip to New York and Washington, and on their return they will reside in Watertown, Mass.

Mr. Shea is a graduate of St. Paul's Parochial and Rindge Technical schools and is a member of the Cambridge Lodge of Elks. His bride is a graduate of the Cambridge High and Latin and Fisher Business College, and has been secretary to S. C. Sperry of the S. C. Sperry & Co.

Warren H. Freeman IN MEMORIAM

Warren Hapgood Freeman was born in Boston, Nov. 15, 1843, and died Jan. 26, 1927, at his home in Hinsdale, Ill. His father, John D. Freeman, lived the last forty years of his life on the property just above where Mr. Jacob Bitzer now lives; was on the Arlington School Board with Hon. Wm. E. Parmenter for many years, and was chairman one year. He died at the age of 93. His mother, nee Elizabeth Brown, died soon after the close of the Civil War. A few now living will remember going to school with Warren in the old "High Street" building near where Higgins' blacksmith shop now stands.

When President Lincoln called for volunteers in 1861, Warren was among the first to enlist. He served three years, first in the 13th Mass., and later as Sergeant in the 39th Mass. regt. His older brother, Eugene, was in the Government transport service. The two wrote many letters home, covering fully the events of their experiences. Their father had them printed under the title "Letters from Two Brothers." One of the copies is in our Robbins Library.

He married, in 1868, Louise Hobart of Boston, who lived but a few years afterward. Their son, Henry Warren, is now a lawyer in Chicago and has a daughter in Vassar College. Mr. Freeman married, 2nd, in 1885, Flora Dodge of Madison, Wis. For a while they lived in Arlington, on Mass. avenue, just above Court street. Then he made his headquarters as agent for the Sawyer Woolen Mills of Dover, N. H., at Chicago, and moved there. For the last thirty-five years he and his family have lived on his fine estate at Hinsdale, Ill. He was an ardent golfer to the very last, being the champion, in his class, of the Wheaton (Ill.) Country Club. His death, in his 84th year, was sudden, and entirely unexpected, as he and Mrs. Freeman were planning to go to Florida shortly.

He is survived by his widow, and four sons.—Henry W., above referred to; Courtney, married, who has two children; Charles Marble, and Philip (the last three are World War service men), The Arlington relatives nearest of kin are his sister, Susan, Mrs. William E. Wood; a niece, Mrs. Harold L. Frost; nephews, Eugene Freeman, Warren (now in Florida), and Ernest H. Freeman. Another niece, Elizabeth Freeman Quinby, who graduated from A. H. S., lives in Laconia, N. H., and Louise Freeman Clary, at Washington, D. C. Then, too, all of the seven children of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Wood are nephews and nieces.

WALTER HENRY FOX

The funeral of Walter Henry Fox, a former Boston business man, was held here Saturday afternoon in the Saville Chapel. The Christian Science service was conducted by E. H. Keach of Newton, a Christian Science practitioner of Boston. There was no music. The body was taken to Mt. Auburn for cremation and the ashes were interred in the family lot in Lowell Cemetery.

Mr. Fox was born in Boston. For 20 years he was in the ship hardware business in New York. Until he retired, he was for 18 years manager of the Edson Manufacturing Corporation, pump manufacturers, in Boston. He leaves his wife, who was Miss Lucy Smith, and a sister, Mrs. Anna Hazeltine of Grand Rapids, Mich. His home was at 27 Russell street.
